A New Era in Autologous Regeneration

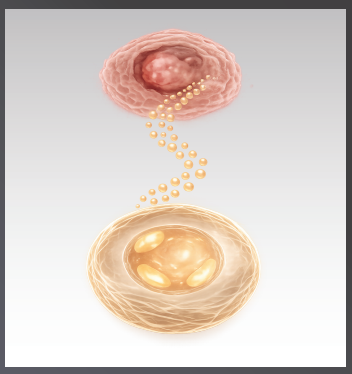

Cellenis® is a complete autologous regenerative portfolio, from exosome signaling to structural volumization to foundational PRP, enabling practitioners to customize treatments using the patient's own biology with unsurpassed safety, and utmost precision.

Cellenis® Exo-ME™ PRP

Exosome Enriched Therapy

A New Standard in Cellular Regeneration

Cellenis® Exo-ME™ isolates and concentrates the patient's own exosomes to deliver targeted, anti-inflammatory signaling with hundreds of billions of extracellular vesicles per mL for skin and hair, no synthetic or allogenic materials. The Natural Skin & Hair Booster.

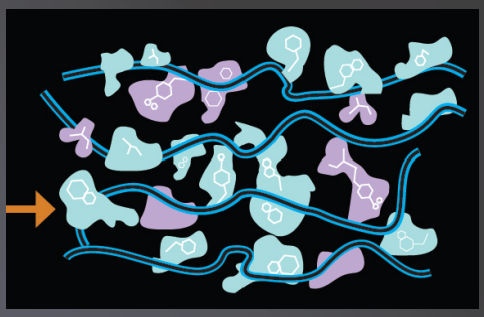

Hundreds of billions of extracellular vesicles per mL

Cellenis® DermaPRP

A Natural Way to Support the Skin

Cellenis® Derma PRP uses platelet-rich plasma within a dense protein matrix for immediate volumization and gradual reabsorption, supporting dermal architecture and long-term skin health.

Platelet-poor plasma is restructured into a dense protein matrix for extended-release growth factor delivery.

Cellenis® PRP

The Foundation of Regenerative Therapy

Cellenis® PRP delivers concentrated growth factors that support natural healing and regeneration through a vacuum-sealed system with proprietary anticoagulant, preserving cell integrity for consistent outcomes and faster recovery.

Pyrogen-free, sterile, and closed-system tubes offer proprietary MNC7 anti-coagulant that produces a physiologic pH to prevent burning.

Expand Your Regenerative Offerings with Confidence

Integrating the Cellenis® regenerative portfolio allows practitioners to offer a fully customizable, autologous treatment strategy that addresses skin and hair concerns at multiple levels: cellular signaling, dermal structure, and foundational regeneration.

Cellenis® empowers providers to tailor treatments with precision while using only the patient's own biology. This cohesive system delivers consistent clinical outcomes, minimal risk of allergic reaction, and expanded treatment versatility helping practices elevate results, and meet growing patient demand for natural, science-driven solutions.
